DESCRIPTION

SureFire's SOCOM762-RC Fast-Attach® suppressor represents a revolutionary breakthrough for attenuating the signature of 7.62 rifles, including those chambered for high-intensity magnum calibers. This compact and lightweight suppressor—mounted to the Mk 13 sniper rifle in .300 Win Mag—recently won the Mk13 contract award with US Special Operations Command after winning the most extensive suppressor evaluation in history. The rigorous USSOCOM testing addressed all aspects of suppressor performance, and SureFire came out on top. The SOCOM762-RC also received the USSOCOM official safety verification in support of fielding. Constructed of advanced high-temperature alloys and stainless steel, it features advanced gas-flow dynamics that reduce back pressure, thereby reducing the suppressed cyclic rate and gas blowback on the operator when used on auto cycling guns. SureFire's patent-pending front-plate design, along with the proprietary improvement in gas-flow dynamics, nearly eliminates first-round flash, a true technological breakthrough in this area. The suppressor attenuates noise and dust signatures to an unprecedented degree. A new indexing system means this suppressor securely mounts to a SureFire muzzle brake or flash hider and is easier to remove after extended firing because the index tab is in a low carbon-buildup area. Like all SureFire Fast-Attach models, the SOCOM762-RC produces minimal, consistent shift in point of impact compared with an unsuppressed weapon and is durable enough for fulltime use.
