

DESCRIPTION

The SureFire RBC was developed after a military request as a measure to allow the shooter to defeat reinforcement rebar. The RBC simply slides over a SureFire WARCOMP-556-CTN or SFCT-556 Suppressor Adapter and securely attaches via the same patented Fast-Attach® mechanism used on our best-in-class, battle-proven SOCOM suppressors. While cutting through rebar with live ammunition is inherently dangerous, the RBC provides a more effective, safer scenario by aligning the bore of the weapon with the rebar and offering some protection—to the operator, those nearby, and the weapon—from spalling of the fired round and rebar fragments. Simply index the attached RBC with the rebar and apply forward pressure before firing the weapon. The RBC is merely a locating device, and it will not degrade the performance of the weapon or adversely affect ballistics of the projectile fired.
